Air Quality Regulation in Orange County: What Does the Future Hold?

This panel will discuss recent developments in air quality regulation in Orange County and within the South Coast Air Quality Management District, the "tip of the spear" for air quality regulation in the United States. Topics will include: the "big picture" for air quality regulation within the SCAQMD as well as the likely future priorities of SCAQMD in compliance, enforcement and greenhouse gas regulation; an air quality permitting primer designed to provide practitioners of all levels of experience with the critical information that clients need to know when they first become aware of an air quality permitting requirement; and strategies for addressing enforcement in the air quality arena.
