

Events

What Retailers and Retail Developers Are Doing in a Stifled Economy

11.4.09 | Conference
Venue: San Francisco, California

Gary Glick will moderate a panel of expert who will focus their discussion on all aspects of the current retail environment including the lack of sales activity, difficulty in leasing retail space and the inability to attempt any land-up development. The session will also explore what developers and retailers are doing to survive this dramatic downturn in the economy. Panelist will also discuss why the retail markets have collapsed and what will be necessary to bring them back to life.

To register and for more information >>

Related Professionals

Gary A. Glick

Related Practice Areas

Real Estate